In Communication Language, we made a Day/Night scene to help us remember about happens in a 24-hour cycle of a day.

Upcoming Activities:

Last week, we learnt about the differences between animals that are active in the day and animals that are active in the night during the theme "Day/Night Animals".

Ramadan Kareem to everyone!

In Communication and Language, we learnt new terminology to describe animals that move in the day (diurnal) and animals that move about at night (nocturnal). We did a good job differentiating between the different times of day when completing our craft.

This week starts a new series all about seasons. We will focus on "Autumn and Winter".

In Personal, Social, and Emotional Development, we continued to work through the activities in the 'Your well-being is a Trust' initiative. This time there were some tempting treats for us to practice making good choices. It was a challenge, but we made it through the week.

In Communication and Language, we will look at how the seasons change from Autumn to Winter and what changes take place in the environment.

In Mathematics, we focused on identifying missing numbers in sequence from 1 to 15. We practiced counting songs backward and forward to prepare for this activity. When your child is at home or you are out and about in the city, ask them if they can find any of the numbers they have learnt.

In Personal, Social, and Emotional Development, we are going to pretend to go shopping in "Our Classroom Clothing Store" to buy winter clothing. Here we will have a turn being the cashier helping their friends to pay for their clothing and they will have a turn to shop.

In Physical Development, we learned how to draw an owl all on our own with guidance from our teachers. At first, we didn't think we could do it, but Ms Lisa believed in us!

In Understanding the World, we will do an experiment to try to make our own snow. If we are successful, we will build snowmen!

In Understanding the World, we learned what happens when animals hibernate and practiced building caves together with understanding prepositions.

In Expressive Art and Design, we will start working on a season's tree that we will complete over the next few weeks together. We will decorate an Autumn and a Winter tree. We will explore with colours and colour mixing to make the colours we need.

On Thursday, we had Red Nose Day at school with our friends and family visiting for the day too. The theme this year was "Children in War" and we painted canvases to represent our thoughts and feelings for auction to raise funds. We were dressed up in our carnival clothing and played games with our tickets. We had fun but made sure to remember it was for a good cause.

Get ready friends, it's going to get chilly!

We worked together to make our painting for Red Nose Day to help raise funds for charity.

Paying it forward giving some of our spending money to charity. Kindness comes from the heart!
